Dear ACES Client,

Our mission at Aerial Compliance & Environmental Services (ACES) is to help our clients navigate the complex universe of environmental regulations by providing outstanding guidance and services through a variety of tactics developed by the ACES team over our 60+ years of combined experience in the field.

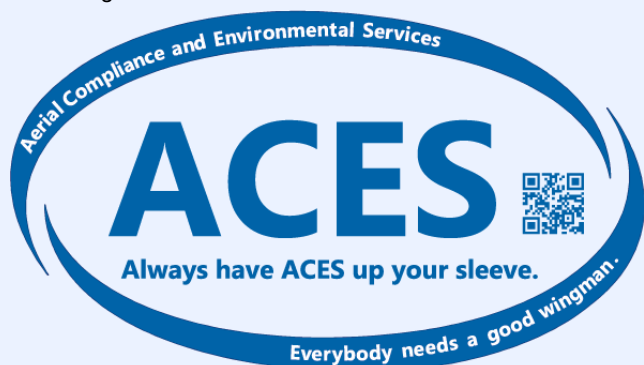

Environmental obligations and regulatory requirements can be a cumbersome path for a developer of any size to negotiate alone with an entanglement of unforeseen hiccups and landmines at every turn. ACES is an environmental inspection and monitoring group with many years of service in the public and private sectors created to serve the construction industry with effective strategies of compliance allowing them to focus on efficient completion of their projects and the always important bottom line.

We are a small and nimble team of local resources with the experience to guide you through the environmental compliance pre-construction, construction, and post construction process. Everybody needs a good wingman... always have ACES up your sleeve.

Sincerely,
Tim Hodge
